

Parkway’s Principles of Education for Sustainability.

At Parkway, in order to achieve our mission, all students need knowledge, skills, and understanding of sustainability to positively respond to an ever-changing world. Education for sustainability provides opportunities to ensure our students are capable, curious, caring, and confident learners that understand their role as global citizens. All Parkway students learn to think critically and take action to create a sustainable future including a prosperous economy, responsible citizenship, and a healthy natural world.
